D.P.S. IN BUSINESS

The Doctor of Professional Studies (DPS) program offers doctoral-level education for the practitioner community.

This three- or four-year program—similar in nature to a Doctor of Business Administration degree—is designed for experienced individuals who seek higher-level roles in business, entrepreneurship, or education.

The curriculum prepares graduates for future pursuits in private or public corporations, nonprofit organizations, financial institutions, universities, or government agencies.

Students may focus their studies in one of three areas:

- Strategy and Decision-Making
- Capital Markets
- Business Economics

The average time to complete the D.P.S. is four years. Advanced students, such as those who come in with prior transferable coursework, may be able to finish in three years. The maximum timeline is six years; the fifth and sixth years are an option available only to students who are unable to write and successfully defend the dissertation by the end of the fourth year.

Thanks to our partnership with Peking University in Beijing, there is a cohort of students who take classes at Fordham's Lincoln center only in the summer and study in Beijing during the remainder of the year.

Requirements

Graduation from the DPS requires completion of courses and minimum credit hours with a GPA of at least 3.0 and a written dissertation approved by a doctoral dissertation committee.

The DPS program consists of 70 total credit hours, which includes a combination of coursework credits and dissertation credits.

Coursework

All students will complete 42 credit hours of trimester-based coursework (fall, spring, and summer) in the first two years, comprising 24 credit hours of core courses and 18 credit hours of specialized electives.

The first two years are broken down as follows:

- Year 1: five core courses (15 credits) and two electives (6 credits)
- Year 2: three core courses (9 credits) and four electives (12 credits)

Core courses
