INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS BRIDGE

The International Business Bridge (IBB) is a unique program for international students who hold the equivalent of a four-year bachelor’s degree. In certain cases, it replaces the final year of university; please check with your university and with the Gabelli School to make this determination.

Does your application package need a boost before you apply to a U.S. business school?

Fordham created the International Business Bridge program (IBB) to help international students get ready for a graduate-level U.S. business degree program.

In just two semesters, the Fordham IBB will help you:

• Improve your English skills
• Build a foundation in business theory and practice
• Prepare for graduate-level business coursework

This program is an excellent precursor to a graduate business degree at Fordham or at another highly regarded U.S. university in which your GMAT score will be required.

Admissions

Specific admissions requirements and tuition for IBB can be found online. For more information about IBB or its specific admissions requirements, please contact Greg Cooper, Director, at ibb@fordham.edu or Barrilero1 on WeChat.

Gabelli TALK

Gabelli TALK is a comprehensive English language and cultural immersion program designed to help incoming graduate business students develop communicative competence in English to function more effectively in academic, professional, and social settings. Students participating in Gabelli TALK have early access to resources at the Gabelli School of Business (e.g., career development), have more time to secure housing, and have the chance to meet and interact with faculty, staff, alumni, and other students—before classes begin.

For more information about Gabelli TALK, please contact Dr. Philippe Barr at pbarr2@fordham.edu or pbarr2 on WeChat.

Requirements

IBB students take ten courses across two terms:
