Once a student has registered for class through our online system, registration changes can be made up to the last day of add/drop. After the add/drop period, students must see their academic advisor to make any changes to their course schedule. During add/drop, students may drop a course without being penalized. If a student drops and subsequently adds a course during the add/drop period, there will be no financial penalty.