Course Changes (Add/Drop)

Once a student has registered for class through our online system, registration changes can be made up to the last day of add/drop. After the add/drop period, students must see their academic advisor to make any changes to their course schedule. During the first week of classes, students may drop a course without being penalized. If a student drops and subsequently adds a course during the first week of classes (or the add/drop period), there will be no financial penalty.
