

ORIENTATION

Congratulations on your acceptance to one of the Gabelli School graduate programs! Orientation is a highly interactive and informative multi-day event designed to help you transition to the Gabelli School, Fordham University, and New York City. We want to provide you with all the tools you will need to be successful here.

For students starting in the fall, orientation for incoming M.S. students is usually held during mid-August. Full-time M.B.A. students start their multi-week orientation traditionally in July. And Professional M.B.A. orientation is typically held the weekend before classes start. For students starting in the spring, orientation is held in January, prior to classes starting. Online master's programs will participate in a fully online orientation.

Orientation is tailored towards the needs of each incoming class and is a mix of online and in-person information sessions, workshops, and events. The details for your orientation will be made available to you in the months leading up to it.

All students matriculating at the Gabelli School are required to attend in-person orientation and engage in all online orientation activities and materials.
