

SUPERVISION (ADV CERT)

Overview

This program is offered online with two, week-long intensive courses on campus.

Fordham's advanced certificate in supervision offers experienced spiritual directors formation in the art and practice of supervision, along with a process for discerning a call to supervision ministry. Training features both cognitive and applied learning and includes resource gathering, modeling, discerning, practicing, demonstrating, case preparation, mentoring, reflecting, researching, writing, and supervised fieldwork.

Graduates of this program will be prepared to offer supervision across ministerial settings and collaborate with others in the formation and ongoing care of spiritual directors and other pastoral ministers. Career objectives for the advanced certificate in supervision include enhancing skills for current spiritual direction ministries and increasing opportunity for work as supervisors in spiritual direction formation programs, retreat houses, campus ministry programs, schools, and parish settings. There is a strong demand for such supervisors in the United States and Canada, as well as overseas.
