1 Students may enroll in courses in other departments with permission of the English Director of Graduate Studies.
2 Students must have completed at least two English M.A. courses to register for the 3-credit Capstone, which is normally taken in the fall semester of the second year. More information about the capstone is available on our page on the Fordham website.
3 Some of our students fulfill this requirement in this way, but more often they opt for one of the other modes of fulfillment, listed on our website (options 3 and 4 are very common).

Students should select their courses carefully and consult periodically with the Graduate Director to ensure that they are fulfilling all requirements. Not all courses are offered every year; students must fulfill their requirements from courses offered during their tenure within the program.
