30 credits

NYSED 34419/34421

This clinically-rich master's degree program in adolescence earth science education prepares candidates to teach earth science as a content-area subject in grades 7 through 12. Graduates of the program qualify and are endorsed for New York state certification as teacher of Earth Science 7–12.

Admissions

In addition to the general requirements for study at the Graduate School of Education and for initial teacher education programs, candidates for the adolescence earth science program must have an earned degree in geology (or a related field, for example, geological sciences), with a minimum of 30 credits in earth science coursework. This content must include study in the following areas: scientific methods, space systems, atmospheric systems, geological systems, and water systems.

Otherwise qualified candidates who lack coursework in a specified area may be admitted conditionally but must make up the content deficit prior to completion of the program. Attendance at an Adolescence M.S.T. information session is recommended.

Applicants for any of the initial teacher education (ITE) programs must meet the general requirements for admission to the Graduate School of Education as well as their specific degree or certificate program and the following ITE requirements:
