GRADING SYSTEM AND POLICIES

Grading System
Permanent Grades
For graduate coursework, PCS assigns letter grades corresponding to a 4-point scale as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Letter Grade</th>
<th>Numerical Equivalent</th>
<th>Grade Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A</td>
<td>4.000</td>
<td>Outstanding</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>A-</td>
<td>3.750</td>
<td>Excellent</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B+</td>
<td>3.500</td>
<td>Very good</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B</td>
<td>3.000</td>
<td>Good</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B-</td>
<td>2.750</td>

</tr>
<tr>
<td>C</td>
<td>2.000</td>
<td>Minimal pass</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>F</td>
<td>0.000</td>
<td>Fail</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

There are no grades of C+, C- or D.

Fordham University does not allow for grade replacement. All courses taken and all grades earned will be reflected on the transcript and included in GPA calculations.

Other permanent grades include:

Temporary Grades
ABS       Missing required or final coursework, or absent from final examination
NGR       No grade reported
INC       Incomplete coursework requirements in addition to the final examination

Temporary grades automatically changed to permanent grades following the deadlines detailed in the graduate program’s academic calendar.

All graduate students in the School of Professional and Continuing Studies must maintain a cumulative GPA of 3.000 to remain in good academic standing.

Absence from Final Examination
Students who are absent from a final examination must have a valid reason for their absence, or their grade for the examination will be assigned as a grade of F. Students should contact the program director to discuss the reason for the absence prior to the examination. The reason provided must be supported by documentation—for example, an official letter from a physician.

If a student possesses a valid reason for her/his absence, and receives approval, the instructor will record an interim grade of “ABS.” The program director will assign a new date to take the exam.

Upon completion of the make-up examination, the grade of “ABS” will be removed and replaced by a permanent grade. If the make-up examination is not completed by the specified deadline in the PCS academic calendar (generally four weeks after the officially scheduled final examination) the “ABS” is automatically changed to “F.” Only in extraordinary circumstances will this administrative "F" be changed, pursuant to the approval of the dean.

No Grade Reported
The notation "NGR" is used by the Office of Academic Records to indicate that the instructor reported no grade for a student. Instructors may fail to submit a grade if the student is missing assignments.

An "NGR" automatically becomes an "administrative F" at the same time as unclesed "ABS" or "INC" grades. Thus, if students receive "NGR," they should contact the instructor immediately.

Incomplete Coursework
It is expected that the requirements and assignments for a graduate-level course will be completed by the date listed for the final examination in that course.

The status of "incomplete" is assigned solely in the event of circumstances outside of the student’s control, and will not be approved for students simply wishing to revise graduate work or to be allowed additional time to complete assignments.

Applications for incomplete grades should be made on the official Incomplete Request Form and shall be made no later than the date of the last day of class prior to the final examination in that course.

Requests for an incomplete grade must be made by filing out the Request for Grade of Incomplete Form, and they require approval by the instructor, program director, and the dean. Documentation of the reason should accompany each request.

Students who are on academic probation or those who have had several previous incomplete grades should submit documentation demonstrating that the circumstances surrounding the request for an incomplete are outside of the student’s control, along with their application.

At the time of submission of grades, the instructor will assign a grade of INC to the student. The grade INC indicates that the student has not completed all required coursework. The instructor must detail the course requirements that need to be met and associated deadlines.

Upon completion of all required course requirements, the instructor submits a Change of Grade form to the dean’s office. When approved, the INC will be removed and replaced by a permanent grade. If all course requirements are not completed by the date specified in the graduate program’s academic calendar for removal of incompletes, the INC will become a permanent "F."

Permission to extend an INC beyond the incomplete deadline stated in the academic calendar requires the written approval of the instructor or program director, and the dean, and reasons offered in support of the application must be substantial. If, following approval of a deadline extension, the requirements are still not met by the new deadline, the grade of INC is automatically changed to an "F" (called an "administrative F"). Only in extraordinary circumstances will an administrative F be changed, pursuant to the approval of the dean and the provost.

Change of Grade
Student grades will be changed only under extraordinary circumstances. This policy also applies to administrative grades.

To change a grade, the instructor must submit a petition to the dean, specifying the reason for the change. If approved by the dean, the grade change request will typically be forwarded to the relevant University. Updated: 04-16-2024 office for final approval. If either office deems the reason for change insufficient, the grade will not be changed.

Grade changes are primarily approved for reason of a clerical error; grade changes for extra work or revised work after the end of the semester are not permitted.

Grade Appeal Process

This policy applies to both undergraduate and graduate students in the School of Professional and Continuing Studies.

Only final grades may be appealed. If students receive a final grade in a course that they wish to appeal, they must appeal the grade prior to the completion of the next semester in which the course was taken even if they are not in attendance; otherwise, the appeal will not be considered. Once students have graduated and have a degree awarded by the University, a grade appeal will not be considered.

Students who believe they have received a grade that does not fairly reflect their academic performance must consider the following before beginning the process of a grade appeal:

1. Double-check the calculation of the final numerical grades for the class based on the percentages each exam/project was worth as stated in the instructor’s syllabus.
2. Objectively assess your attendance record. As partners in learning, students are expected to attend class and contribute.
3. Objectively assess the quality of class participation. If a student’s grade appeal is based solely on a difference of opinion about class participation, it will be virtually impossible to resolve this issue as only the instructor will be able to evaluate this.
4. Compare all of the above with the original class syllabus to determine whether all requirements have been fulfilled as stated by the instructor.
5. Check that the work submitted met the requirements enumerated by the instructor. For example, if a student submitted a well-written and well-researched paper on the life of Plato but the instructor specifically asked for a comparative study of the ideas of Plato, Aristotle, and Socrates, the grade will not be reviewed since the student did not follow instructions as to what was required.

If after all considerations students determine that a grade appeal is warranted, then the following process should be followed:

Level 1: Faculty

Students should contact the instructor to discuss any concerns about their grade prior to beginning any grade appeal process. Students should contact the instructor by the email provided on the syllabus to detail the reason for the grade appeal. The student should initiate contact within 10 days of the posting of the final grade for the semester in which the course was taken.

Level 2: Written Appeal to the PCS Grade Appeals Committee

If all attempts have been made to contact the instructor and failed, or the student has successfully contacted the instructor in writing and subsequent communication did not resolve the dispute by clarifying the basis on which the grade was given, or the instructor clarified the basis on which the grade was given and the student still disagrees with the instructor’s assessment, the student may begin the formal grade appeal process by submitting the appeal to the Associate Dean for Academic Programs. The appeal must be received within 10 days of the faculty’s response.

Note: A disagreement about the subjective evaluation of the student’s performance in the class is not grounds for appeal. It is assumed that the instructor, as the subject matter expert, is the one most qualified to evaluate any and all work submitted. Therefore, in order for an appeal to be considered, the student must demonstrate an objective discrepancy between the way in which s/he was evaluated and the grading policies and procedures outlined in the syllabus.

By submitting a grade appeal the student acknowledges that upon review and investigation, the determination may result in a final grade:

- Which may be the same as that of the original grade.
- Which may be higher as that of the original grade.
- Which may be lower as that of the original grade.

The Associate Dean for Academic Programs will guide the student as to what materials will be required to submit to start the appeal process that will be reviewed by the PCS Grade Appeals Committee. The grade appeals committee convenes once a semester approximately 6 weeks after the first day of classes to review all outstanding grade appeals. Students will be notified in writing of the decision within 30 days of the meeting of the PCS Grade Appeals Committee.

Level 3: Written Appeal to the Dean

If after receiving the decision in writing from the PCS Grade Appeals Committee, the student remains in disagreement, the final step is to submit an appeal in writing to the Dean of the School of Professional and Continuing Studies within 10 days. Grade appeals must include:

1. a letter to the dean indicating why the decision rendered by the PCS Grade Appeal Committee is being appealed.
2. a copy of the decision letter received from the PCS Grade Appeal Committee.
3. a copy of the supporting materials submitted to the PCS Grade Appeals Committee.

The dean will only consider appeals based on a lack of due process or evidence that relevant information was not taken into consideration. The final decision rendered by the dean will be the grade that appears on the student’s official Fordham University transcript. The student must be prepared for a final decision that keeps the original grade, is a higher grade, or lowers the original grade, since no further grade appeals of the same course at the University will be considered.

These instructions supersede any prior versions of the PCS grade appeal process.
