

ECONOMICS MAJOR

---

Students majoring in economics take a program of studies that will prepare them work in a variety of private industries and public institutions as well as for graduate studies in economics, international affairs, public affairs, business, or law.

Students who plan to work after graduation from Fordham University will find that many job recruiters are favorably impressed by students who have selected this challenging, liberal arts discipline.

Majors find careers in investment analysis, data science, environmental policy, financial institutions, management consulting, and the public sector, among many other career possibilities.

---

CIP Code

45.0603 - Econometrics and Quantitative Economics.

You can use the CIP code to learn more about career paths associated with this field of study and, for international students, possible post-graduation visa extensions. Learn more about CIP codes and other information resources.