CREATIVE WRITING MINOR

Requirements
The minor in creative writing consists of six courses. Four courses must be in creative writing (courses with the attribute code CVW), and the remaining two courses must be in literature: ENGL courses above the 3000 level or courses offered in other departments with the attribute code ENGL.

Requirements for English Majors
In order to minor in creative writing, students majoring in English must complete four additional courses beyond those already required for the major (i.e., six courses are normally required for the minor, but two creative writing courses are double-counted). In other words, completion of the creative writing minor requires two additional creative writing courses (courses with the CVW attribute) and two additional literature courses as described above.
