The College at a Glance

- FCLC has a student body of approximately 1800, with small and personalized classes, in keeping with the Jesuit tradition of caring for each student as an individual.
- The transition to college is facilitated by the First Year Experience program of special seminars events and a system of active faculty advising.
- The College welcomes transfer students. Each year many students receive credit for coursework completed at other universities and go on to complete their bachelor’s degrees at FCLC.
- Many graduates of the College continue their education at outstanding medical, dental, law, graduate, and other professional schools across the United States and abroad.
- A strong full-time arts and sciences faculty of about 140 is based at Lincoln Center and is augmented with colleagues from Rose Hill. Adjunct faculty bring to classes special professional expertise.
- Many members of the faculty are well-known and established scholars, authors, and editors in a wide range of academic disciplines. Others are active practitioners, including painters, photographers, filmmakers, poets, and composers, and Obie-winning actors and directors.
- FCLC maintains programs with the professional schools of Fordham University with whom we share the Lincoln Center campus and with the Graduate School of Arts and Sciences at the Rose Hill campus.
- Qualified students may gain entry to the 3-3 program with Fordham Law School and thereby save a year of study.
- Students who meet the requirements may apply for the accelerated masters program in English and save a year of study.
- Completion of the B.A. in social work enables graduates who matriculate at Fordham University School of Social Service to complete the M.S.W. degree in one year.
- The College, in collaboration with the Graduate School of Education, coordinates a teacher-education track leading to certification.
- Business courses offered on the Lincoln Center campus by Fordham’s Gabelli School of Business allow a student to complete a business minor.
- Faculty from theater, English, and communication and media studies collaborate to offer a minor in creative writing.
- A visual arts complex offers students splendid facilities for painting, drawing, photography, video, and computer graphics.
- The innovative B.F.A. in dance combines the resources of Fordham and the Ailey School.
- Our Global Outreach and community service programs reflect Fordham’s Jesuit commitment to educate men and women who will use their education in the service of others.

The College Council

From its very inception, Fordham College at Lincoln Center has recognized that, in order to achieve its objectives, it should foster the development of an academic community among its faculty, students, and administrators. This academic community has manifested itself in the establishment of the College Council.

The College Council is a representative body of students, faculty, and administrators that assists in formulating policies for the College and making recommendations to appropriate university officers and bodies concerning university policies that affect the College. The dean of the college serves as chairperson of the council.

Fordham College at Lincoln Center Alumni Opportunities

All graduates of Fordham College at Lincoln Center (FCLC) are members of the alumni association by virtue of their graduation. A board of interested and active alumni represents the FCLC alumni constituency. The board partners with the Office of Alumni Relations to provide opportunities that support and advance FCLC through innovative programs and events. The goal of all alumni activities is to foster lifelong relationships between alumni and Fordham and to create ways for alumni to share their talents and interests with the University.

The Office of Alumni Relations also sponsors numerous opportunities for FCLC alumni to interact with alumni from all of the schools within the University. The young alumni program focuses on the specific needs of alumni who have graduated within the last 10 years. The regional club program maintains Fordham’s national alumni network. The cultural program capitalizes on the unique benefits of New York City for metro area alumni. Rampass, the alumni I.D. card, affords alumni special discounts and allows alumni to easily return to both campuses.

For more information about opportunities to get involved with the alumni program, please contact the Office of Alumni Relations at 212-636-6520.
