BUSINESS COURSEWORK

Undergraduate liberal arts students in all three liberal arts colleges (FCRH, FCLC, and PCS) may take up to six courses in the Gabelli School of Business. Students should be aware that business courses are three-credit courses, rather than four-credit courses, typically offered in PCS, FCRH and FCLC for juniors and seniors. Hence, when considering these minors, students should consult with their advisors to be sure they will have the minimum number of credits (124) required for graduation. Because a maximum of six courses from the Gabelli School of Business can be taken, FCRH, FCLC, and PCS students may consequently pursue only one business minor.

As an exception, students minoring in business administration as part of a Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science degree must complete a minimum of 120 credits to earn their degrees (compared to 124 credits).

Please note that all of the business school courses must be taken at Fordham University to apply.

A number of minors in business are available to students at FCRH, FCLC, and PCS. While not all minors are available to all students, a list of their requirements is listed here.
