The professional achievements of Fordham graduates arise, in part, from the University’s extensive internship program. This highly successful program offers students the opportunity to intern with one of more than 3,500 organizations in New York City and beyond. More than 600 students participate in internships each year. Popular internship sites have included ABC News, the American Museum of Natural History, Apple, Barclays, BBC Worldwide Americas, Comedy Central, Deloitte, ESPN, EY, Goldman Sachs, JPMorgan Chase, KPMG, Legal Aid Society, Madison Square Garden, the Manhattan District Attorney’s Office, Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center, Merrill Lynch, Saturday Night Live, the United Nations, and many more.

The internship program exemplifies Fordham’s dedication and commitment to the education of the whole person. By participating in an internship, students have the opportunity to apply theories learned in class to the realities of a professional situation and explore connections between their major and their career goals.

An internship is a meaningful, well-supervised experiential education experience that benefits both students and organizations. An internship is an excellent way for students to explore career possibilities, gain solid professional experience in their chosen field of interest, and obtain valuable networking contacts. Since full-time employment offers are frequently a direct result of internships, students are strongly encouraged to complete an internship before they graduate.

Fieldwork experience is arranged where students can obtain academic credit and may also include a stipend from the sponsoring organization. Opportunities are available in the fall, spring, and summer semesters in all career fields/industries. Placements can be coordinated on a regional and national basis over the summer. Juniors and seniors generally participate in an internship on a part-time basis while maintaining a full course-load during the fall and spring semesters and generally participate on a full-time basis during the summer. Corporations and not-for-profit organizations participating in the program represent a wide geographic location: metropolitan New York, the tri-state area, and national as well as international locations.

Each college offers juniors and seniors with a minimum grade point average of 3.00 the opportunity to engage in internships that relate to the student’s major field of study or another field of interest. Students may register for a paid or unpaid internships in one of the following methods:

- Enroll in an internship tutorial and meet with the instructor on a regular basis
- Enroll in an internship seminar within a discipline, if one is available
- Enroll in a general internship seminar, e.g., SOCI 4900 Internship Seminar.

Internships are normally taken for between four and eight credits, with tutorial experiences receiving one to two credits. Normally, students may not repeat internships. Internships are graded on a pass/fail basis. Most internship credits applied toward the major will be in addition to the minimum credit requirement in the major. All internships must be approved by the student’s major adviser prior to the placement of students. Students interested in the internship program should consult with their faculty adviser, the department in their field of interest, and the Office of Career Services, Experiential Education Program.
